When will people learn that gasoline was not intended to be used in kindling fires?

Thugs, thieves, crooks and hold-up men seem to have deserted New York and turned their attention to Chicago.

If the Chicago police force cleans up Chicago, some Marion ministers will be minus a comparison for the local force.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon is trying to quit smoking stogies, but is "standing pat" on the tariff question.

Some one should explain to Prince Wilhelm that the people of Newport do not represent the American people.

Pittsburg experienced two fires yesterday and each started in a clothes cleaning establishment. Another penalty of civilization.

Inmates in the Dannemora insane asylum yesterday participated in a riot. This might be taken as an indication of returning sanity.

John Burroughs says President Roosevelt is right about "nature faking." Burroughs stands a very good chance of being given a consulship.

Secretary Taft yesterday told the Southerners to ease worrying about the "black peril" and bury the ghost. Just a polite way of asking South Carolina to put Senator Tillman under the bench.

Foraker promises Taft the support of all Ohio republicans if he is nominated. It would be music to Foraker's ears to hear of Taft promising him the support of all republicans in his race for senator.

Attempting to dynamite a passenger train at St. Peter's Dome might be considered as significant. His Satanic Majesty must have his impus stationed very close to heaven's door.

Fort William, Ontario, telephone operators left their desks because of an American girl. There is nothing startling about that. Many foreign men have left their happy homes for American girls.

Many charges of inefficiency have been made against the Chicago police force, but the vim with which they have started after the lawless element of the Windy City indicates that they only needed a little shaking up.

Foraker has adopted a "you scratch my back and I'll scratch yours" policy and has thrown down the bars for Taft to walk into the reciprocity political pastures, but the war secretary has not accepted the invitation.

Secretary Taft says he has no desire to separate himself from Roosevelt and his policies. He probably remembers his Sunday School days when he learned something about a branch not being able to exist unless it abides in the vine.

MRS. RYAN A COUNTESS

High Honor is Conferred Upon Her by Pope Pius X.

New York, Aug. 23.—Mrs. Thomas P. Ryan, wife of a street car magistrate, has been a countess of the Roman Catholic church since last December, but the fact did not become public until today. Mrs. Ryan has never assumed the title and the fact that it had been bestowed by Pope Pius X was known only to church dignitaries and a few of Mrs. Ryan's intimate friends. It has been rumored within the last few days that Ryan was made a noble of the church and the honor conferred on his wife became known in trying to trace the reports. Mrs. Ryan is said to have given $5,000,000 annually to the church while maintaining charities which cost her another $1,000,000.

TEXAS IS AFTER THE HARVESTER TRUST

Dallas, Texas, Aug. 23.—One of the most important anti-trust suits ever started in Texas, was filed at Austin, late Thursday afternoon. The suit was filed by the attorney general's department on behalf of the state against the International Harvester Company of America, which was organized under the laws of Wisconsin.

The petition alleges that the defendant concern has violated the anti-trust law of Texas and the state demands penalties in the sum of $1,000,000.

TAFT IN ST. LOUIS

He Says He Thinks He Made Plain His Position on the Tariff.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 23.—Secretary of war Wm. H. Taft, arrived Friday morning from Lexington, Ky. His train, an "ar late, arrived at 8:05 a. m. and he was met at the union station by prominent republicans and escorted to the Planters Hotel. Before going to breakfast, he said that secretary of state Root was not nearly so ill as the report says; that he is suffering from a slight attack of rheumatism would not take a trip to Mexico for his health, and that his mental condition was as sound as he had ever known it to be.

Secretary Taft announced at the outset of the interview with newspaper men that he would not discuss weighty public questions in any formal interview. Asked if he would accept Senator Foraker's invitation to define himself more clearly on the tariff he said, he thought he had been sufficiently lucid and explicit on that subject.

Secretary Taft will depart at 2:15 p. m. for Oklahoma City.

COURSE OF TRAINING

Is Now Being Forced Upon King Edward and a Fad Results.

Marionbad, Aug. 23.—King Edward, as the latest royal exemplar of the "simple life" is the fad here at present. Everything is named after the English ruler from the latest style from hair cut to the novelties displayed by fakirs on the streets.

Incidentally Edward is getting a taste of the most strenuous form of living. He is here to take the cure and his physician insists upon the strictest observance of the health rules. In no other way will the monarch be able to reduce his annoying rotundity. King Edward is up every morning at 6 o'clock. He first drinks two glasses of water from the spring of The Cross and is hurried out for a two hour walk before breakfast. All day long he is kept on the move for he needs exercise and he is packed off to bed at 11 o'clock at night. He is limited to the plainest food and wines are prohibited.

Don't Forget

To be here with your tickets at eight thirty tomorrow night as this is the greatest drawing of the season. It's a beautiful Silver tea set this time.

PROPOSES A LICENSE FOR ALL HUNTERS

Cleveland, O., Aug. 23.—"Proper game protection in Ohio can only be secured through a license fee for both resident and non resident hunters," said Paul North, president of the Ohio Fish and Game Commission, today.

"The warden system, as it is now, is a farce. It does more harm than good and places the game laws of the state in a bad light."

North proposes to push a bill providing for a fee for all hunters. He is of the opinion that the majority of the sportsmen of the state are back of him. According to North, the fish and game laws are wilfully disobeyed and something radical must be done.

"UNCLE JOE" MAY SOON LOSE ALL OF HIS FAME

Plattsburg, N. Y., Aug. 23.—"Uncle Joe" Cannon bids fair to lose a great part of his fame. He is known to newspaper readers throughout the country as a famous smoker of "long black cigars." He is now trying to break himself of smoking. He told his friends here today that while he had been accustomed for forty years to smoke from 12 to 15 cigars a day, he has cut down the number to three or four. He expects soon to be able to pass a day without a single "smoke."

TURNED ON GAS TO HIDE A BUDGLARY

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 23.—Following a fire in the grocery store of E. M. Cohen, this morning Mrs. Cohen announced that jewelry worth $50,000 and $200 in money was missing. It is thought thieves started the fire. It was found that gas pipes in the cellar were turned on and in a few minutes the place would have been destroyed by an explosion.

ANOTHER MURDER MYSTERY IN CHICAGO

Chicago, Aug. 23.—Evander Melver, 45 years of age, a wealthy contractor, and chemical manufacturer, was found in a basement entry way on Twenty-Fifth and State streets today. Marks of a blow on the temple, bruises on other portions of his body and wrists bearing the appearance of having been bound with cords, adds another murder mystery to a string of half a dozen now waiting for solution by the police. Detectives are at work on the case. Melver owned a handsome residence on the south side and several valuable city properties. The murdered man was stripped of valuables with the exception of a dollar in his vest pocket.

BROKEN HEARTS

And Unpaid Board Bills Left in Wake of Prince Karl Zal Zal Bay.

New York, Aug. 23.—Prince Karl Zal-Zal Bey, of Syria, who has figured in any number of picturesque romances since his arrival in this country and has been the lion of many society leaders, has disappeared. The fact that the Prince's wardrobe is held at the hotel Breslin for an unpaid board bill is assigned by some heartless people as the cause for his suddenly dropping out of sight. But his society friends firmly believe the story told them that the Prince has sailed for Europe on a brief tour.

A boarding house keeper where the Prince stopped for a while after he left the Breslin, only to depart again with their board bill to his "credit," declared the distinguished Syrian is in New York. She would like to find him.

The Prince is said to have left a trail of broken hearts from Washington to New York and back to Pittsburg.

OWES FOR MONUMENT

Such are the Allegations of a Petition Filed Against Lillian Barnes Livingston.

New York, Aug. 23.—Mrs. Lillian Barnes Livingston, friend of the late Pierre Lorillard, and one of the chief beneficiaries under his will, has been sued for $1,057, said to be still unpaid on the monument she erected in Kensico cemetery.

Papers are reported to have been served on her Thursday in a dramatic manner. A private detective, it is asserted, followed the maid bearing his card, right into the room where Mrs. Livingston was in bed sick and dropped the summons into her hand. The suit is brought by Henry Erkins & Company, who put up the monument. Her attorneys have denied her liability.

Mrs. Livingston's romance with Lorillard attracted much attention and when he died his wife declared he had been "dead to her for twenty years."

ABOUT THE STANDARD.

The plea made by the Standard Oil company of Indiana that it had no competitors because there were none recalls the case of the prisoner on trial for killing his parents and who appealed for mercy on the ground that he was an orphan. If that fine of twenty-nine millions could be collected in cash there would be great disturbances in the money market. There are some religious steps to be taken before Uncle Sam can gather that sum into the treasury.—New York Herald.

The fine imposed on the Standard Oil company of Indiana breaks all records for penalizations of that sort. * * * If great corporations were as eager and industrious in observing the statutes in letter and in spirit as they often seem to be in skirting and straining them there would be little occasion for those corporations to complain that they are being unfairly treated by juries and little fear of their facing a monumental cash forfeiture like that now hanging over the Standard Oil company of Indiana. Caution, fair-mindedness and a determination to err on the side of safety in corporation management will be found like honesty, to pay decidedly in the long run.—New York Tribune.

Great accumulations of capital are no longer immune from punishment when penalties are so adjusted to their resources as to constitute punishment indeed. The fine levied by Judge Landis will have a valuable and far-reaching effect in demonstrating the supremacy of the law over powerful and defiant aggregations of lawless wealth. It is not an appeal to the "mob" but a sane application of the principles of justice.—Chicago Daily News.

It is not so long since eminent apologists of the Standard Oil were assuring the public that if it had ever accepted rebates in its struggling infancy the naughty practice had long been abandoned. * * * Judge Landis' action should prove a sharp rebuke to much incendiary talk that has lately been heard about the use of the federal courts as a shield for corporate oppression. Mr. Rockefeller at least, will not today share that delusion.—New York World.

The Elkins law was enacted partly for the protection of the railroads from the demands or importunities of those who sought to obtain favors from it. It seems to have failed in this respect as well as in others. Perhaps the next step will be the prosecution of railroads which are alleged to have discriminated in favor of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana. If the supreme court should sustain the decision of Judge Landis, we may confidently expect an advance in the price of oil. The oil trust will not pay fines out of its coffers when it can force the people to open their pocketbooks.—Baltimore Sun.

The sentence of Federal Judge Landis of Chicago against the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, convicted of receiving rebates from railroads imposing fines aggregating $29,240,000, unprecedented and unparalleled as it is, must create a profound sensation throughout the civilized world. It will doubtless receive the plaudits of the extremist and the unthinking. But the ultimate judgment of the great mass of workers in the business world must necessarily be that it smacks of passion and prejudice.

Its very extravagance destroys the respect which a reasonable sentence would have carried with it and is calculated to arouse and foster unrest and disquietude throughout the entire realm of business.—Columbus Ohio Sun.

The most obvious comment on the bumper fine imposed by Judge Landis on the Standard Oil Company of Indiana is that if the company deserves this maximum penalty of the law, then there are some of its officials or agents who deserve to be in the penitentiary. The highest fine necessary to restrain this or any other corporation from violating the law against rebating is not too high, even if it puts the concern out of business. The practice has bankrupted many worthy and enterprising men who, however, capable and industrious have found it impossible to do business in competition with predaceous concerns which obtain or extort forbidden favours from the transportation companies by secret means. * * * Once it is known that the anti-trust laws and anti-rebating laws are to be enforced it will be more just to stockholders to punish infractions with the criminal penalties therefor provided.—St. Louis Republic.

If the Chicago and Alton and the Standard Oil company entered into a criminal conspiracy their officials should be put in jail; but the Standard, however, rich and powerful it may be, is entitled to just as careful consideration from the courts as if it were poor and bankrupt, notwithstanding the fact that any punishment whatever inflicted upon it at this time, even to the utter confiscation of all its property would meet with a shout of "popular" approval.—Philadelphia Ledger.

What Others Say.

AROUSING OF ASIA.
Either these naval people drink something that causes them to see things or there is something in the statements that there is a yellow peril. It seems that every time a man-of-war touches a port the officers are quoted as saying

DETAILS UPON WHICH CLOSE OF CONTEST WILL BE CONDUCTED

CLOSE OF POLLS.
Precisely at nine o'clock Saturday evening, August 24th, the polls in the Marion Mirror's great $1500 voting contest will close, and after this hour positively no votes can be cast in the contest.

REPORTING SUBSCRIPTIONS.
For the convenience of the office as well as for greater satisfaction on the part of the candidates the Marion Mirror would request that the candidates Saturday evening, August 24th place their uncast ballots together with subscription books and money for all unpaid subscriptions in sealed or tied packages and present these packages to a representative of the Marion Mirror at the final polling place before the closing hour, nine o'clock.

FINAL POLLING PLACE.
The final count will be held in the office of the Marion Mirror. The candidates, their representatives and friends and the general public are cordially invited to be present and witness the final count. Chairs will be arranged in the Marion Mirror office for the accommodation of the candidates and others while awaiting the rendering of the final decisions.

OUT-OF-TOWN CANDIDATES.
Out-of-town candidates must have their subscriptions and ballots in by nine o'clock Saturday evening, August 24th, the same as in-town candidates in order to count in the contest. A representative of the Marion Mirror will call at the post-office fifteen minutes before the time of closing the final polls, nine o'clock, for all matter from out-of-town candidates. This will allow just enough time to get the subscriptions and ballots in before the polls are finally closed. The Marion Mirror positively will not be responsible for any delay in the mails by the postal department. Subscriptions and ballots, no matter when mailed, must be in the postoffice box of the Marion Mirror by 8:45 Saturday evening, August 24th or they will not be accepted in the contest. Out-of-town candidates would do well to bring their reports to the Marion Mirror office in person the final evening; then no chance of losing the value of their work through possible postal delays will be encountered.

COMMITTEE OF JUDGES.
The final returns will be canvassed by a committee of well known business and professional men of the community. Care has been exercised in selecting a committee that will have the fullest confidence of everyone concerned and every candidate may feel sure that a just and equitable decision will be rendered. The committee of judges is composed of Mr. John Waddell, Mr. J. P. Ludwig, Mr. S. A. Lyon, Mayor Louis A. Scherff and Mr. C. M. Landon.

THE FINAL DECISION.
All records are in such shape that it is believed the committee of judges will be able to complete the final canvass and render the final decision within two hours' time from the time of closing the polls at nine o'clock.

that there must be a reckoning with the dark-skinned people.

The latest "interview" is that of Engineer Thiel of the German cruiser Roon, recently visiting the United States. This officer is said to be a very learned gentleman and student of current history, and he is credited with stating the other day that "the next great struggle in naval warfare will be for the control of the Pacific Ocean. That struggle will not necessarily be between Japan and the United States he added, "for the differences between the two nations ago have passed away. Yet their growing strength may bring rivalry, which may some day lead to a great conflict to determine which shall be master of the great ocean. German and English interests may conflict because of intense trade rivalry, but a war between the two is not likely."

But as if a war between Japan and the United States would not be horrible enough, Engineer Thiel sees still darker pictures. "Probably the struggle will be between the yellow and the white races. Asia is being aroused." There you are—the arousing of Asia. It is impossible for these much-traveled gentlemen to open their mouths without saying something about the arousing of Asia. "Asia is being aroused," he says, "Japan is assisting China and aims to gain as much of the trade of the Orient for herself as the possibly can. Japan is indeed, a modern Great Britain, with the same aims, brought about by the same economic necessity of providing empire for her expanding population. The mainland of Asia and the Philippines may suggest themselves to her. If the Orient is to stand together, then Germany, the United States and Great Britain ought to stand together to preserve the institutions of the Anglo-Saxon race and the peace of the world."

A pretty dream, this getting together of the Anglo-Saxon people for guaranteeing the peace of the world. But the peace of the world will not be guaranteed until every nation gets the advantage of every other nation, it seems. With Germany and the United States in a tariff war, or what amounts to the same thing, and with Germany and England each trying to get a foot's advantage of each other in the Orient with Germany colonizing South America in an effort to some day show the United States that there is no such thing as the Monroe doctrine—well, it will not guarantee much peace until such things are settled between the Anglo-Saxon countries themselves—Springfield, Ohio News.
